Important Guidelines & Safety Information

- Please take full responsibility for your personal belongings. Avoid carrying valuables or expensive electronics.
- Be cautious while taking photographs, especially near edges or on steep terrain. No photo is worth risking your life.
- Strictly no consumption of alcohol or any kind of intoxicants before or during the trek.
- If you have any past or current health conditions (including heart issues, recent surgeries, cramps, seizures, or diabetes), you must inform the booking team or trek leader in advance. This is mandatory for your safety.
- This is an adventurous forest and mountain trek. Be mentally and physically prepared for natural challenges such as changing weather, slippery paths, or steep climbs.
- In case of unavoidable circumstances such as local strikes, government restrictions, bad weather, roadblocks, or forest department closures, parts of the itinerary — including the trek — may need to be modified or cancelled for safety reasons. If such changes occur after reaching the base location, KeralaTrekkling will do its best to either reschedule your trek or provide a partial refund, depending on the situation and expenses already incurred. Your safety is our top priority, and we appreciate your understanding in such rare and unpredictable situations.
- All participants must be in reasonably good physical and mental health, and have the basic fitness level required for this trek.

Payment Terms

- A 50% advance payment is required at the time of registration to confirm your slot.
- The remaining balance must be paid at least 48 hours before the trek begins.

Cancellation & Refund Policy

- Cancellations made more than 2 weeks before the trek: 50% of the advance amount will be deducted as cancellation charges.
- Cancellations made between 1–2 weeks before the trek: 75% of the advance amount will be deducted.
- Cancellations made within 1 week of the trek: 100% of the advance amount will be charged (no refund).
- In case of unavoidable circumstances such as local strikes, government restrictions, bad weather, roadblocks, or forest department closures, parts of the itinerary — including the trek — may need to be modified or cancelled for safety reasons. If such changes occur after reaching the base location, KeralaTrekking will do its best to either reschedule your trek or provide a partial refund, depending on the situation and expenses already incurred.
